

PERSONAL MENTION

D. Guy Earp, of Prescott, was in Pendleton Saturday night.

Conductor C. F. Brown is on his passenger run again after a few days rest.

Attorney J. T. Hinkle went to Weston this morning on professional business.

Rev. Jonathan Edwards returned from a brief visit to Walla Walla last evening.

Sheriff T. D. Taylor went to Camas Prairie this morning to serve papers in a civil action.

Miss Edith McBride, of Athena, was in Pendleton Saturday visiting her sister, Miss Bessie McBride.

Mrs. C. S. Haynes returned last evening from a visit to her mother at College Place, near Walla Walla.

Dr. W. G. Cole and Cashier W. L. Thompson, of the Commercial Bank, visited Helix this afternoon in Dr. Cole's automobile.

T. Donovan, O. R. & N. and Western Union lineman, is in the city today completing the improvements in the Western Union offices.

Jacob Scheurman, the well known wool buyer, of San Francisco, is in the city looking over the wool situation in Umatilla county.

Oscar Cain, formerly prosecuting attorney for Walla Walla county, is in Pendleton attending the sessions of the state supreme court.

Sam Young, of Walla Walla, of the firm of Church & Young, passed through on his return from the St. Louis exposition this morning.

R. E. Porter, now a resident of the Umatilla river below this city but formerly an extensive wood dealer of Meacham, is in the city today on business.

C. E. S. Wood, the well known Portland attorney and writer, passed up the O. R. & N. last night to Eastern Oregon, where he goes on irrigation business.

Jake Gulling, O. R. & N. conductor on the Elgin branch road and one of the oldest employees of that system, was in the city this morning between trains, on his way to Portland, on a brief visit.

Will Huson and wife, of Dawson, Alaska, who have been visiting Mr. Huson's mother, Mrs. L. M. Huson, of Helix, left this morning for an extended visit to other relatives at San Bernardino, Cal.

George Q. Johnson, of La Grande, passed through this morning to Spokane. He reports business very good in La Grande this fall, owing to the plentiful crops and the great amount of fruit being handled in that city.

County Assessor C. P. Strain made a stirring speech on current political issues at Walla Walla last Saturday night. He was heartily received and spoke for an hour on taxation, receiving many rounds of applause in the course of his address.

J. W. Knowles, one of the leading politicians of La Grande, and unsuccessful candidate for both register and receiver of the La Grande land office, passed through this morning en route to Portland. He is hopeful of seeing the usual republican majority rolled up in Oregon tomorrow.

Harry C. Grady, formerly United States marshal for Oregon under the last lamented Cleveland administration, now one of the oldest freight conductors on the La Grande division of the O. R. & N., was in the city today. He is a prominent prohibition worker and is confident of the question carrying in several of the Union county precincts, in which elections will be held tomorrow.

First Locomotive to Coast.

Stanford University is placing in its museum the first locomotive to cross the continent from the Pacific coast. It is named the Governor Stanford No. 1. This engine was built in the early 60's and was shipped from the east around Cape Horn in 1867. After the driving of the golden spike, the last act of the completion of the Central Pacific road, on May 10, 1869, this engine was used by Governor Stanford to draw his private train through Nevada to the scene of the exercises. The Central Pacific presented the engine to the university several years ago, and it has been stored in a shed on the university campus, but it is now to be given a permanent place in the museum and to be polished and made to appear as nearly as possible as it did when it was in use.

Increase in Irrigation.

An increase of the arid land reclamation fund held by the treasury to approximately $25,000,000 is announced in the report of the auditor for the interior department for the fiscal year ended June 30. This is the fund accumulated from the proceeds of public land sales in California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, and set apart under the act of congress of June 17, 1902, for the construction and maintenance of irrigation works for the reclamation of arid lands in these states and territories. The fund thus accumulated and set apart for the three fiscal years ended June 30, 1903, aggregated $16,444,329.

Strategy necessary to Success.

Is Kuropatkin himself a great strategist—the equal of Oyama? He is a superb fighter, but that is not sufficient. Does he know all of the fine points in the game of war? Can he see, as if by divination, the weak points in the enemy's line? Has he the Napoleonic way of doing the right thing at the right time? If he has, the plains near Mukden may be the scene of a Russian victory unparalleled in Russian history. If he is only a fighter and not a strategist, Oyama may inflict upon him a defeat which will go far to decide the issue of this war and the mastery of the far east.—Baltimore Sun.

Falls in South America Beat Niagara

The greatest natural phenomenon, the sublimest cataract in the world, has been discovered in South America.

It is the falls of Iguazu, infinitely greater than Niagara Falls or Victoria falls on the Zambesi river.

The existence of the stupendous falls of Iguazu was intimated at the recent congress of geographers held at the World's Fair. The finding of the falls will mark forever the early years of the twentieth century. Nor is it remarkable that geographers have not known before of the splendid cataract, for it is concealed in a forest almost impenetrable, 1,000 miles by boat from the nearest town of size.

Horace Anasagasti, commissioner of mines and liberal arts from the Republic of Argentina to the World's Fair, enthusiastically and fully confirms the statement that the Iguazu is the greatest waterfall in the world. He says:

"I have recently been in a position to corroborate with my own eyes the marvelous character of the falls of Iguazu. I have seen them. I have measured them. I have seen and studied the Niagara and the Zambesi falls, and of my own knowledge I assert, without fear of contradiction, that it is the greatest cataract in the world. It throws Niagara and Zambesi into the shade.

"I expect that many people will refuse to believe these assertions which seem so incredible, but nevertheless, I confidently predict that within the year the falls of the Iguazu will have taken their place before the world as the greatest natural wonder yet discovered."

In the last seventy miles of its course the Iguazu river is the boundary between Brazil and Argentina, just as is the Niagara between the United States and Canada. The Iguazu's channel twists and winds through a lofty, hilly and broken country. Twelve miles above its junction with the Parana river, the Iguazu, flowing with incredible swiftness, abruptly turns at right angles, and at this bend are the falls.

The precipice over which the cataract plunges is 310 feet high; that of Niagara 167 feet. The falls of the Iguazu are 13,123 feet wide, about two and one-half times as wide as Niagara. It is estimated that 100,000,000 tons of water per hour roars and foams over Niagara; a like estimate gives the falls of the Iguazu 140,000,000 tons.

At any time of the year the Iguazu is the greatest cataract in the world, but the sight of it in the rainy season is said to far surpass in sublimity and grandeur its appearance during the rest of the year. During the rains the river above the falls rises from six to ten feet over a width of 20,000 feet, when the islands in the river disappear and the falls assume an indescribable magnitude.

There has been a great stimulation in the business done on the Snake river during the past summer, and every steamer on the river has been either completely overhauled or rebuilt and several new ones have been added.

A Little Sermon on Fountain Pens

THE TEXT.

"Clean pens make clear consciences, but inky fingers excite unholy words."

We have just received a large shipment of WATERMAN IDEAL FOUNTAIN PENS.

Probably there is no article which serves more varied requirements than the pen. The tastes and needs of individual users differ in very widest degree. Thus, while the first care of the purchaser should be to secure a pen that is mechanically perfect, durable and reliable, his next is to secure a holder adapted to his use and a pen point fitted to his hand.

In our stock you can find any kind of a point you want, from extra fine to a stub.

GUARANTEE.

Every Waterman Ideal Fountain Pen we sell is unreservedly guaranteed. Pen points may be exchanged as often as necessary in order to fit the hand, or the full purchase price refunded within 30 days if the pen is not entirely satisfactory.

STYLOGRAPHIC PENS.

We carry the "Independent" Stylographic Pen and the "Capitol" Fountain Pen, the best dollar pens made.
